

Wake. Pray. Slay.

A Compilation Presented by Reketta C. Wright

THE PROJECT

Wake, Pray, Slay is the mantra of an unstoppable woman. She awakens grateful every day for all of the wonderful blessings bestowed upon her. She prays for a successful day and for all those whose influences help her to be a better woman. She is, then, deliberate about her day, slaying every impediment to her success and causing her to rise above the status quo to be deemed simply unstoppable! If this describes you, you will want to be a part of this amazing opportunity.

I'm looking to collaborate with fifteen (15) unstoppable women, who will share their inspiring stories about how they've overcome insurmountable life circumstances in business, as an entrepreneur, in ministry, or personally that have, in turn, propelled them to achieve unfathomable success. Collectively your contribution will serve as an avenue to inspire others and help you connect with those who will use your formula for success to become unstoppable women in their own right. Individually, your contribution will establish your credibility as an author and help you generate an additional stream of income.

CONTRIBUTING AUTHOR FEE

If you've done any research on the costs associated with becoming a published author, no doubt you've seen that they can be exorbitant. However, we've been able to minimize the costs simply by making this a collaborative effort. The contributing author fee for this project is only $797. This covers the cost of project coordination, publishing, book cover design, interior formatting, editing, proofreading, ISBN, personal website, marketing and your first fifty (50) copies.

To secure your spot, remit your $197 deposit by October 31, 2016. You, then, have the option of paying the remaining balance in full, making two (2) installments of $300 or four (4) installments of $150 with final payment due by February 28, 2017.

THINGS TO NOTE

Your work will be featured as a contributing author in this publication with your name, bio, and contact information. The copyright will be registered under the name of the project presenter, Reketta C. Wright, however, the work you submit will remain your intellectual property. The project will be available for purchase through thousands of global retailers including Amazon and Barnes & Noble. There will also be an E-book version that can be downloaded directly from your site. You will gain instant credibility as an author and expert in your field or subject matter, increase your personal worth and open up an avenue for you to become an instant authorpreneur! Even if you've never written before and have no idea where to begin, we will walk you through the process step by step!

WHAT'S NEXT

Submit your chapter (2000-word max) or deposit with statement of intent to write by October 31. Include a bio of at least 100 words, your website (if applicable) and main social media contact. You will also need to submit a professional, high resolution (300 dpi or jpg) photo/headshot.

You will receive a promotional graphic for use as a marketing tool on all of your social media sites and directions for how and when to use to begin creating a buzz about the project. I am delighted that you have agreed to embark upon this incredible journey and I look forward to partnering with you in this endeavor.
